

< Subscribe Now
< Digital Editions

Ideal Home

HOME NEWS LIVING ROOM BEDROOM BATHROOM KITCHEN GARDEN + ROOMS REAL HC

Home / News

Raise the alarm – this converted fire station is one hot property!

IH

By
Ideal Home
July 5, 2018 3:14 pm

It's certainly lighting a fire in our hearts...

Maybe you haven't considered living in an old fire station before today, but this picturesque property situated in the historic but thriving Cotswold market town of Charlbury is sure to get you thinking.

Another quirky property: Can a renovated court house make a fun family home? You be the judge...

Steeped in local community history, the house was a working fire station until the 1970s, offering a base to the brave fire-fighting men of West Oxfordshire.

Image credit: Savills

After so many years of integral duty, the building was converted into a residential dwelling in 2017, and had new life breathed into it with some gorgeous interior design. There's no risk of feeling like you're at work here, the decoration is refined but homely.